

TWO OCEANS 82 HPC

Two Oceans Marine Manufacturing is offering a whole range of catamarans, of from 60 to 85 feet, sail or motor, and even a 110-footer for day charter. In the South African builder's range, there is notably the 82 HPC, a very fast, full-carbon boat, but one offering the services of a genuine up-market yacht in its accommodation. A boat weighing just 32 tonnes, and carrying a total of over 380 m<sup>2</sup> of sail. Easily enough to offer good performance.

MULTIMARINE

Situated in England, Multimarine specializes in building fast, seaworthy catamarans. But not just... The builder is currently finalizing the construction of a 109-foot pontoon, which will serve for partying. We can't wait to test it! Among the projects which interest us more, Multimarine is converting the Gunboat Rainmaker, which had been abandoned at sea following damage and recovered after drifting for 14 months, into a 60-foot motor catamaran. There are also two catamarans specially adapted for a disabled crew, a 1295 XL and a 48-footer. Finally, a 46-foot motor trimaran is under construction – here again, for a disabled customer. A boat which will be able to do 40 knots...

MAINE CAT 38

The latest boat from Maine Cat is a 38-foot catamaran, which is easy to handle, even singlehanded, and capable of good averages under sail, at over 10 knots. Equipped with two outboard motors, just like the Maine Cat 30 since 1996, the 38 is light, and remains easily maneuverable under power. This system, and its retracting daggerboards also allow it to be beached very easily. As for the accommodation, we find just one well-protected saloon-cockpit area, with the steering position at the front. The galley and the cabins are in the hulls. ## XQUISITE YACHTS

Phoenix Marine Manufacturing, Xquisite Yachts' South African partner, has just moved the production line dedicated to the Xquisite X5 catamaran. The new factory actually allows three boats to be built at the same time, therefore the customers' demands can be met more rapidly.

Hull no 5 has thus just been delivered to its owners in the Caribbean whilst nos 6, 7 and 8 in the series are now being built.

At the same time, the builder is working on its brand new 55-foot motor catamaran, which will be officially announced at the next Miami Boat Show, where a sailing X5 will be presented. The launch of the first 55 Power is planned for 2019.

TRICAT 20, THE PREMIERE IN DÜSSELDORF

The brand new Tricat 20 trimaran was presented by the builder at the Düsseldorf Boat Show for its world premiere. Designed by Antoine Houdet and Jack Michal, it is in the tradition of its predecessor in the range, the well-known 25 Evolution, whose folding system it uses. Easy to use and transport, the Tricat 20 allows you to change sailing areas and discover new horizons without needing to have a bigger boat, and offers coastal camping comfort for two adults and two children... The launch price is fixed at 33,800 euros inc. tax, with mainsail and Mylar jib on roller furler.
